LADY, BLINDED BUT CONSCIOUS

Said She Would Turn Blind and Fall When Nervous Spells Came on, Yet Remained Conscious.

Odessa, Fla.—About 2 years ago, writes Mrs. J. D. Powell, of this place, "I took several bottles of Cardui as a tonic, for I was run down in health. In fact I could hardly do anything at all, could only drag around and couldn't do my work. Life was miserable to me and I knew I must have some relief, as I was so very weak. I would suffer with aching pains in my right side, back and shoulders. I would have such terrible nervous spells, which would come on me, and I'd fall down where ever I was standing. I would turn blind, as though I had fainted yet kept my consciousness. My friends would rub me, circulation was extremely poor, and the arms, hands and limbs would be cold.

My friends... recommended that I try Cardui. I began using it and soon both saw and felt a great improvement. My appetite became good. I ate so my husband teased me about it. I could rest well at night, and got so I could do all my housework in a short time. I praise Cardui to all my friends.

novelists and the main topic of the table talk was the President's message to Congress and military measures. Nearly every member spoke enthusiastically of the military spirit abroad in the land and viewed with alarm the breeding of the war spirit in the young of this generation. The program was thoroughly enjoyed and included a collection of songs and plays of Old England. The collection of songs was presented by the members of the military spirit. ### BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bad habits. There is a sensational name for this trouble. Mrs. M. J. Smith, Box W. South Bend, Ind., writes: "I had a son who was a bad boy. He was a real terror. I had tried everything I could think of, but nothing would do. I was so worried that I was going to lose my mind. I was so worried that I was going to lose my mind. I was so worried that I was going to lose my mind."
